Police Court.

FRIDAY, 7th August, 1893.

BREAKING WINDOWS.
An inebriate was charged with being disorderly and smashing panes of glass in a window belonging to a Chinaman residing at Johnson street, causing damage to the amount of $150. Prisoner pleaded guilty, and was fined $5 or 14 days imprisonment. Complainant to be compensated out of the fine if paid.

DRAWING A KNIFE.

Richard Cranshaw was placed in the dock, charged by Lewis Davies of the Star & Garter Hotel, with drawing a knife and attempting to stab him.

Mr. Lewis Davies sworn, stated that on Thursday afternoon he went up stairs, found Cranshaw in the room, and asked him what he wanted; he said he wanted to see Miss Sager; witness told him if he wanted to see her he must meet her out in the street. Prisoner then commenced using abusive language, insisting upon going to see Miss Sager. Witness called upon a man in his employ to put him out. Prisoner seized hold of his wrist and drew the bowie knife produced, which was wrested from him by Miss Sager and another girl, and Prisoner was given in charge.

Cranshaw was asked by the Court what he had to say to the charge, and replied as follows:—Judge I must plead guilty to a portion of the charge, but not the whole. I am a faithful citizen, and I have no objection to defence, and I must therefore throw myself on the mercy of the Court. I know I have done wrong, very wrong; in fact I have been insane; but I have always objected to Miss Sager going to that house, because I consider it a disgraceful place, and I have no objection to love that woman, this is no jesting matter. She lived with me for a long time, and I did my best to make a good girl of her, but he has been working against me. I know I stand in a frightful situation, my character is gone. I have a mother at New York 70 years of age, and what will she say? If possible let me leave the colony, and never see the woman again. I was not there with the intention of doing her ill, and throw myself on your generosity.

Mr. Davies here said that he had hired the girl upon the express understanding that she had nothing to do with Cranshaw.
The Court:—This is a case of considerable importance, not only to the prisoner and the young woman, but also as regards the character of the house. You (addressing the prisoner) have brought two of your friends who were your usual intimates, and rendered them liable for $50 each, and yourself in the sum of $150.

Cranshaw—I know it Judge, I feel the truth of every word you say. I have wronged those who were kind enough to come forward and defend me.
The Court:—I must endeavor to take care that such scenes are not permitted to occur in Victoria. I shall therefore take time to consider how I shall act in this matter. I remain the prisoner for one day, and shall require the prosecutor to be bound over to appear to-morrow.

THE TOWN CRIMINAL IN FROCK.
The notorious criminal John Butt was charged by Thomas McCann with entering his saloon in company with another man, name unknown, and stealing two bottles of brandy to the value of $2.00.

Prisoner pleaded not guilty, and said that he knew nothing about the brandy; he never touched it, and was as sober as a judge when he came to the court. The brandy was found under his bed, but he never saw it there by Jack, who admitted having taken one bottle, and not two as stated in the charge. Jack could be had if sent for.

Prisoner was remanded for one day in order that the "knaves" Jack might "turn up."

FOR BUTE INLET.—The sloop Inletley left for Bute Inlet yesterday at 1 p.m., with provisions for the workmen on the trail. Mr. Waddington, we believe, will not leave until Monday and informs us that in the meanwhile he will be happy to furnish details of weight and quantity to any newspaper that from an imperious feeling of duty, may deem it incumbent to supply such information to the public. In connection with this subject, it may be more interesting to know that Mr. Waddington has now paid a sum of nearly $2,000 for duties on provisions for his workmen without any equivalent; while, as a matter of course, this sum will be employed in paying the freight on the provisions, to the detriment of his own line. We understand that the sale of the town site at Bute Inlet will probably take place on or about the 15th of October next, when, if the trail be open as Mr. Waddington predicts, there will be some brisk bidding.

STEAMER RELIANCE.—This stern-wheel steamer left yesterday afternoon for New Westminster and Yale with some passengers and considerable freight, to resume her regular trips. The Reliance has for some time past been lying at Messrs. Dickson, Campbell & Co.'s wharf, having her new boilers from San Francisco fitted under the supervision of Mr. Spry of the Albion Iron Foundry, who also constructed new cylinders. The entire workmanship has, we understand, been performed in a most satisfactory manner. The steamer left her harbor in good style and seemed to be under perfect command.

FILIBUSTERS.—Some settlers on their way down from Comox, found some trees by the side of the trail laden with native filibusters. We have tasted some of the nuts, they are quite excellent in flavor to English or Canadian. The pedestrians say that bushes of them can be obtained on the trail about 10 miles from Victoria.

STAGE TO SANICHO.—Messrs. Plaskett & Glide have started a stage to run to North Sanich every other day, leaving Victoria at 11 a.m., and Sanich the first thing on the following morning. The stage will be driven by James Little, an experienced whip.

SKIDGATE COPPER COMPANY.—The directors of this company are setting to work in earnest. Provisions and implements have been already purchased and the working party will be dispatched as soon as arrangements can be matured. At the meeting of shareholders held yesterday, Mr. Beck was placed upon the directory in the room of Mr. Nathan.

ASSAY.—Messrs. Molitor & Co. made an assay yesterday of some of the specimens of copper ore, brought down by the Skidgate Company, producing the extraordinary result of 41 75 per cent. to the ton.

NANAIMO ELECTION.—A report was in circulation late last night that the Fusi Yama had arrived, bringing word of Mr. Yima's election by a majority of two, only four or five voters having gone to the poll.

FOR NEW WESTMINSTER.—The steamer Enterprise left last night about twelve o'clock, with passengers and freight for New Westminster.

THE SCHOONER WINGED RACER arrived yesterday from Dunsmuir.

FROM THE SOUND.—The sloop Northern Light, Monmouth, arrived yesterday with the Sound mails.

THE GUNBOAT FORWARD visited San Juan yesterday with pay for the troops.

ACCIDENT TO THE MAYOR.—Yesterday, at one o'clock a.m., information was brought to town by Robert Bishop, Esq., solicitor, that our worthy Mayor, Thos. Harris Esq., had met with a serious accident while driving on the Saanich road, and that he was being conveyed to town in a suffering state. Dr. Trimble started off in a buggy, accompanied by another gentleman, to render what assistance lay in their power. Shortly afterwards the wagon reached town and drove to the Mayor's residence on Broad street, where the members of Mr. Harris' family were waiting in the nature of anxiety and suspense to ascertain the nature and extent of the injuries he had received. Dr. Trimble, after an examination, pronounced that the poor Mayor had received several severe bruises, but that no bones were broken. It would appear that on Thursday evening Mr. Harris was driving his buggy out to his farm at North Saanich, when it suddenly broke down. He then secured another vehicle, and was within a short distance of Peter Lind's house when something gave way, and the horses broke loose, pulling him out and dragging him about fifteen yards. On recovering his senses, Mr. Harris shouted as loud as he could for assistance, but his calls met with no response, and he was constrained to lie exposed to the night air, suffering acutely from the injuries he had received. It was not until yesterday morning, when he was discovered lying in the road by Mr. Lowman, who fetched to his assistance Mr. Deeks, with a wagon, and having supplied pillows and other means were at command for easing the sufferer, they placed him on the inside, and Deeks drove him to town. Mr. Harris' friends, and they are legion) were greatly relieved upon learning that the injuries sustained were not as serious as were at first supposed. His lengthy statement in his suffering arose from the fact of his hat having been thrown beyond his reach, causing his sprightly protected head to be exposed to the chilly night blast; we trust, however, that he shall soon see his Worship's jolly face amongst us again.

Supreme Court of Civil Justice.
TUESDAY, 7th August, 1893.

RODNEY—Appellant v. O'Rourke—Respondent.
This was an appeal from the decision of the Gold Commissioner in favor of the Respondent. The case related to the claim of the Plaintiff, who claimed a half share in the Greenwood mine, against the Defendant, who claimed a half share in the same mine. The Gold Commissioner had decided in favor of the Defendant, and the Plaintiff appealed. The case was heard by the Supreme Court of Civil Justice, and the Court decided in favor of the Plaintiff, reversing the decision of the Gold Commissioner.

soon, the cold frosty winds and bitter snow storm of Cariboo will once again bid the swallows southward fly, and once again, also, the question will be asked by many, (perhaps too often interested) what shall be done to prevent our golden-winged birds of passage flying away from the shores of Vancouver, to seek the supposed more genial climate and sunnier skies of California, with all its attendant perils and pleasures, there to luxuriate in clover until king trim condemns in the ordinary course of nature to take his icy rule, and permit old Sol to smile genially upon our poor benighted hyperborean northern region.

That question, has certainly agitated our Victorian brain, as much as any one single subject during the past four or five winters, and many have been the expedients both suggested and experimentalized on to prevent the annual exodus of the miners, but in the ordinary course of nature, the matter can hardly have all these expedients failed, and we naturally arrive at the conclusion that, in fact, I hope with a more successful issue, in fact judging from certain premises, I feel justified in coming to the conclusion that the birds will be kept here by the power of Mr. Editor. I will give my reasons in the first place, why I think the various efforts made to induce miners to stay in Victoria during the past winter seasons have failed, and secondly, why I think the power of preparation likely to produce more successful results, especially upon the class that have considerable means; and thirdly, as to what is being done for the benefit of the poor man?

FOR NEW WESTMINSTER.—The steamer Enterprise left last night about twelve o'clock, with passengers and freight for New Westminster.

Chain the respondent for $5,100, and the money, less commission, was lodged in the bank of British North America in Osborn's name. Early in the present year Dr. Crain came to Richmond, to take possession of the half interest and received the whole alleged dividend to the amount of $12,000 or $13,000. Towards the end of May, Mr. Ardell with a power of attorney from Carter also arrived on the claim, and claimed the half interest and the dividends under the sale said to be made by Carter. By reason of the same day that Osborn had executed the power of attorney to Swanwick, and commenced an action against Dr. Crain in the Gold Commissioner's Court, to recover possession. The Gold Commissioner decided the case in favor of Dr. Crain, and from his decision Carter appealed.

On behalf of the appellant it was contended that the execution of the transfer from Osborn to Swanwick was null and void, and that Carter, revoked the power of attorney given to Swanwick, and that though no notice was received by Swanwick of the transaction till some time after the sale to Crain, Crain could derive no benefit under the transfer from Swanwick, under the power of attorney as revoked by Carter. On behalf of the respondent it was contended that Crain having been in possession of the claim till the end of May without any intimation of an adverse title, the transaction as now stated by Osborn was to be looked upon with suspicion and as an attempt to recover a claim which as circumstances have shown is sold at a low price; that Carter had no title in the colony; that he was not at the time of the sale to him a Free Miner and that only on the commencement of this action in the Gold Commissioner's Court had a Free Miner's certificate been obtained for him by his attorney in fact, and that this certificate could not be used as if it had not been counter-signed by him but only by his attorney; further, that though the transfer to Crain was duly recorded with a Gold Commissioner, it was not duly recorded with the Gold Commissioner, and that the Gold Fields' Act provided that in case of dispute titles should be recognised according to the priority of registration, a provision made it was contended to prevent secret bills of sale being put up.

His Honor Judge Begbie gave judgment on the 4th July, and after stating the circumstances reflected on the conduct of Osborn as disclosed by his evidence; the facts elicited on cross-examination that the leaving Williams Creek he had entered into an arrangement with one Caruthers to work the claim the terms of which were not clearly stated, but the effect of which was to effect a change in his half interest, and that he had been paid a considerable sum of money for the interest to one Campbell for $1000; that he then wrote to Victoria and gave Swanwick on the 4th November, 1892, a power of attorney to sell the same half interest to the respondent, and the previous charge he had made upon it; that on the same 4th November, if he was to be believed, he executed a transfer to Carter without mentioning to him his three previous dealings with the property, and he left Victoria without a word being said to him, and he had made to Carter, but left him with a power of attorney in his hands apparently unfettered, only writing to him from San Francisco a letter dated 9th November, which in the ordinary course of things must have known would not reach Swanwick's hands till the 21st or 22nd of November. In the interval Dr. Crain had bought it of Swanwick and paid his purchase money, and he recorded on the same day, and simply dishonest and he regretted the rule of law was as contended by Mr. Cary that a disposition by a principal of property over which a power of disposition was given to his agent revoked the power of attorney; on this point he was saying that the Gold Fields' Act required a Free Miner's certificate to be countersigned by him yet his attorney could sign it for him, and that this agreement against Carter's title failed, but he was equally clear that no person could record in his name a bill of sale, and that Dr. Crain had no title to the half interest in the claim sold to him by Swanwick though neither Swanwick nor Dr. Crain had any notice of the revocation of the power. His Honor held further that though the Gold Fields' Act required a Free Miner's certificate to be countersigned by him yet his attorney could sign it for him, and that this agreement against Carter's title failed, but he was equally clear that no person could record in his name a bill of sale, and that Dr. Crain had no title to the half interest in the claim sold to him by Swanwick though neither Swanwick nor Dr. Crain had any notice of the revocation of the power. Quite an exciting, and withal, a amusing incident occurred off Go Island. The Oakleaf, a schooner, was engaged in a race for Frolic might have been running a race for San Francisco. The little craft ran up alongside of the steamer, and was shooting ahead of her, when the tiller flew out of the hands of the helmsman. The boat was then rendered thereby unmanageable, and she ran into the Clinton broadside on, and of the six 12 pounders aboard of the Frolic, one jumped down from the ropes of the steamer, and was safely landed aboard. The Frolic, however, was not so easily disconcerted, and she went on her way, and on the moment the great excitement was apparent amongst the crowd which thronged the decks of the steamer. One benevolent dame convulsively stretched an ear, and saw it overboard to the water, and she was not long in being in the water. He seized it instinctively, although being a capital swimmer, he might have lived an hour, with the paddles made had provided him with. The Clinton's wheels were stopped in less than five minutes after she had fallen into the water, and she was hauled up, and rescued from a watery grave, in less time than has been consumed in writing this item of the affair.

Quite an exciting, and withal, a amusing incident occurred off Go Island. The Oakleaf, a schooner, was engaged in a race for Frolic might have been running a race for San Francisco. The little craft ran up alongside of the steamer, and was shooting ahead of her, when the tiller flew out of the hands of the helmsman. The boat was then rendered thereby unmanageable, and she ran into the Clinton broadside on, and of the six 12 pounders aboard of the Frolic, one jumped down from the ropes of the steamer, and was safely landed aboard. The Frolic, however, was not so easily disconcerted, and she went on her way, and on the moment the great excitement was apparent amongst the crowd which thronged the decks of the steamer.
